BACKING LINE

Winding the backing line as the undercoat of the fly line can prevent the fly line from being winding shape.
 It also serves to cover the length of the fly line when the fly line is all out when targeting big fish.
 Made of Dacron polyester material with low elongation rate.

FREE STYLE WF

Free Style WF line for various types of casting with a single line. Its color-coded indicates pick-up points for overhead and surface casting, greatly reducing casting errors. color-coding allows casting in accordance with the method, so even beginners can cast easily and reliably. Head length designed to fit Japanese rods, allowing anglers to feel the weight on the rod from short to long casts. The running line is designed to be as thin as 0.8mm while having the strength of 20LB, making it suitable for long casts.

With this line, you can cast overhead and spey cast on the water!

In the actual field, depending on the back space and standing conditions, you may have to make use of not only overhead casting but also surface casting. However, it is hard to carry several fly lines designed for different casting methods.

#7/8	100FT	32FT 10IN (10.0M)	5FT	10FT	2IN	13.8G (213GR)

So, this one solves this problem.

The head is short and heavy, while the running part is thin and can be used like a shooting line, making it a truly freestyle line.

In addition, the rear taper is color-coded as a casting point, which reduces common mistakes in pickup position! Even beginners can enjoy casting without stress because they can cast while checking the pickup position.

With a little practice, this special line can be used for single-handed spay casting on the water surface.

The rear taper is 5ft (approx. 1.5m), so please adjust the pickup position according to your rod. By adjusting it, you can get the weight one position higher or lower.

Casting is one of the most exciting parts of fly fishing. This is one of the lines to enjoy this easily and dynamically.

GREAT FLY

BASS BUG TAPER FLY LINE

Bass fly fishing involves casting large flies such as bass bugs and poppers. Bass bug line designed to cast from intricate terrain such as bushes where bass hide, or on floaters, and to cast lightly with a short and thick rod. Powerful enough to turn over large flies and carry them to the spot, with extreme center of gravity at the front color-coded from castable position for smooth casting at short range. Core strength is over 30LB, so no need to worry about line breakage when using thick tippets. The head weight is about one position heavier than the specified position, to enable anglers to cast large flies such as bass bugs with ease. Enabling to cast deep into bushes and under covres. We promise that it will be a strong friend for bass buggers.

A custom line that can be used as a DT as it is, or as a shooting head by cutting it.

The line is available in a wide range of sizes and is 30m long, so it can be cut freely to suit a variety of situations.

Rods can be single, switch, or double-handed, and casts can be used in a wide range of applications, including overhead, Scandinavian, and shooting spey. 9m, 10.5m, and 15m AFTAM weights are indicated from the tip. (Refer to the reference table above)

The shooting head should be 3 times the length of the rod + 50-90cm for easy casting. (This is just a guideline.)

The length of the shooting head will vary depending on how far you stand, how much you are on land, and how tall you are.

The Intermediates are characterized by the fact that the line easily sinks parallel to the surface, allowing the angler to explore a certain range by counting down, making it easy to find the right shelf.

The extra body part can also be used as a changeable head by combining it with our trout tip.

TROUT TIP

Trout Tip Braided Core

Smooth taper design suitable for long casting. Good turn performance, and the core is braided, so it is much stronger than conventional single line cores. This line is very strong against abrasion by rocks.

The actual line is designed to be a little longer than indicated.

Compatible rods

Single-handed: No. 5 to 8

Double-handed: No.5 to 8

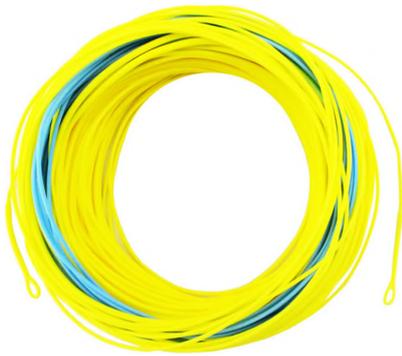

Compatible bodies (Skagit, Scandinavian)

150gr to 330gr

This item allows you to easily turn existing lines into a sink tip, not only Spey Skagit lines.

In the river, it can be used to carry flies quickly to the swimming layer of fish, and in still water, it can be used to retrieve flies in a certain layer. It is useful when you want to use as few tools as possible, such as on a fishing trip. Changing the tip according to the situation is a very effective method.

HURST

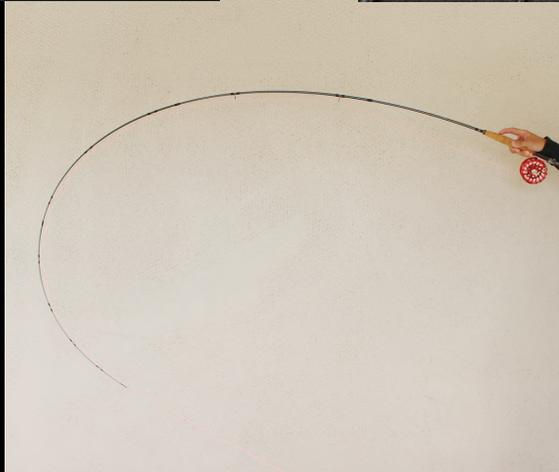

In order to catch a quick bite of a native trout, it is very important to manipulate the line after the fly lands on the water, as well as to make a quick reaction right after the bite.

This is one of the biggest problems in fly fishing.

To solve this problem, we tested the rod targeting trout mainly in rivers in Hokkaido north island in Japan, and found that the rod had a tip that reacted instantly to a bite, and also had enough butt power to withstand the strong pull of native trout.

Medium-fast action to catch flies with pinpoint accuracy, and grip shape to enable anglers to control lines easily in complicated natural river currents.

Powerful enough to be used not only in natural rivers but also in managed fishing ponds, as it can be used for both dry and nymph fishing.

JP6

Rod Concept: "Fishing Japanese Streams"

Short length and soft action for fishing with line systems mainly used in Japanese rivers. Main target are Yamame and Iwana trout. Medium action 6-piece rod (finished length: approx. 40cm)

Particularly in summer, when we often go fishing in headwaters, it is difficult to walk in mountains or climb streams. The JP6 comes with a slim, semi-hard case that can be stowed sturdily and has a finished length of around 40cm.

Rod action is medium. Accurate casting for targeting small spots at short range. Flexible enough to be used with long leader systems and leader casts, thanks to the advantages of low modulus graphite, matching with the systems mainly used in narrow mountain streams in Japan.

GREAT FLY R

Fly Rod for Bass

7'6" #8 or equivalent Fast action

A rod strong enough to cast heavy and large flies, and about #8 to withstand the strong torque of bass

7'5" length to be able to fish with floaters

For fly bass fishing, generally heavy and large aerodynamic flies such as hoppers and minnows are used.

Casting a large fly to the spot where the bass are, both rod and line need to be powerful. The rod is strong enough to cast large aerodynamic flies and powerful enough to withstand strong torque of bass.

Short rod length (7'6") makes it suitable for floater fishing.

HENRYS FORK

Classic design, clicker type fly reel.
It looks great when used with a bamboo rod.

The clicker reel is designed with a click-drag system and has a unique clicker sound.

The design is aluminum machine-cut, which means it is made from a block of aluminum that has been machined.

The side of the spool is dimpled, which can be pressed with a finger for summing (manual drag adjustment).
It is not easy to adjust the drag during a fight. It is best to adjust the drag manually by summing.
The included drag is designed to be a little loose.

In such situations, it is advantageous to have a rod that can be folded compactly and securely fastened to your back.

The JP6 comes with a slim semi-hard case that can be stowed sturdily and has a finished length of around 40cm.
